Immigrant Visa

Non-immigrant Visa

PROCEED

A Non-Immigrant Visa is a type of visa that allows non-U.S. citizens to enter the United States temporarily for a specific purpose, such as tourism, business, education, or medical treatment. Non-immigrant visas typically have various categories of classifications, each representing a specific purpose or activity. For more information on non-immigrant visas, you may access the website travel.state.gov.

An immigrant visa is a type of visa that allows non-U.S. citizens to enter the United States with the intention of becoming lawful permanent residents, also known as green card holders. Immigrant visas are meant for individuals who wish to live permanently in the United States.

Un visa de non-immigrant est un type de visa qui permet aux citoyens non américains d'entrer temporairement aux États-Unis à des fins spécifiques, comme le tourisme, les affaires, l'éducation ou les soins médicaux. Les visas de non-immigrant comportent généralement diverses catégories de classification, chacune représentant un but ou une activité spécifique. Pour plus d'information sur les visas non-immigrants, vous pouvez accéder au site web travel.state.gov.

Temporary worker visas are for persons who want to enter the United States for employment lasting a fixed period of time and are not considered permanent or indefinite. An approved petition by USCIS is required to apply for a work visa. For more information you may access this page.

The C1/D visa is a combination visa issued by the United States for crew members who work on international commercial airlines or sea vessels. It allows crew members to transit through or visit the United States for short periods, typically while their aircraft or vessel is in a U.S. port or airport.

Media (I) visas are for representatives of the foreign media, including members of the press, radio, film, and print industries. Activities in the United States must be for a media organization having its home office in a foreign country and should be generally associated with the news gathering process and reporting on current events.

Bank Deposit option (Cash or Electronic Transfer (EFT)):

When accessing this payment option, you must generate and download a payment deposit slip by clicking on the GENERATE button accessible on the screen. Follow the instructions on the deposit slip to make a cash payment at the bank or EFT payment through online banking. These payments are to be made in local currency only.

There are two pieces of information on the deposit slip that are extremely important for a successful payment:

- Transaction Reference Number – You must indicate it accurately when making the payment. This number will allow the appointment system to validate your visa fee payment allow you to proceed further with the visa application process.
- Expiration Date – You have three (3) days to pay the visa application fee from the date you generate the deposit slip. Please check the expiration date on the deposit slip and ensure you pay the fee before the mentioned expiration date. If the slip expires, please log back into your profile and generate a new one by following the same steps.

After making a payment via Cash or EFT, please allow one business day for the bank to process the transaction before continuing to the appointment calendar to book an appointment.

Card Payment option

When accessing this payment option, you will be prompted to introduce your card details to complete the transaction. This payment is to be made in USD only. There is no wait time for the transaction to be processed. Upon completing a successful transaction, you will be able to proceed immediately to the appointment calendar to book an appointment.

U.S. Visa Application Fees

Non-Refundable Application Fees:

All paid U.S. visa application fees are non-refundable. The application fee is a requirement for applicants to APPLY for a U.S. visa; however, it does not guarantee that a U.S. visa will be granted. Once payment is made, the application fee cannot be refunded. If you believe there has been an error, please contact our call center for further assistance.

Non-Transferable Application Fees:

U.S. visa application fees are specific to the country where the visa application is submitted. These fees cannot be transferred or used for applications in another country.

Validity Period:

U.S. visa application fees are valid for scheduling within one year from the date of payment. After one year, any unused fees will expire and will not be refunded.

Chargebacks:

If you pay your U.S. visa application fee by card and initiate a chargeback dispute, this action may impact your current visa application status and any future visa requests.

U.S. Visa Appointments:

Appointment Availability:

Visa appointments are available only after successful payment of the U.S. visa application fee and are scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis. It is the applicant's responsibility to schedule an appointment promptly.
